TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 27.—The Porte's reply to the collective note has been submitted to the sultan for his approval, and will be communicated to the ambassadors forthwith. It is believed that the tenor of the reply as originally adopted by the ministers has been modified.

Mr. Goschen, the British ambassador, had a private interview with the sultan to-day.

The Porte has discovered through one of its agents abroad that Eagland has confidentially sounded the powers on the subject of a naval demonstration, but the intelligence caused no alarm.

naval demonstration, but the intelligence caused no alarm.

Abeddin Pasha, minister of foreign affairs, is reported to have said that any demonstration of the kind would simply have the effect of inciting the Albanians to energetic action, and that the naval authorities opine that a hostile fleet could not inflict much real injury se long as the Dardanelies are properly protected by forts and torpedoes. He also said that the sultan is guided chiefly by the fear of immediate consequences, and that with all the other influences around him it will tend to make him offer a dogged resistance.

PRANCE.

Paris, July 27.—Owing to a quarrel between the municipal authorities of Cherbourg and Admiral Ribourt, it is feared that the visit of M. Gambetta and President Grevy to Cherbourg may be postponed. Admiral Ribourt, who is a Bonapartist, showed no bunting on his fleet on July 14th, the national fete day, while the foreign vessels in the harbor were profusely decorated. The mayor of Cher' surg will come to Paris to make his complaints against Admiral Ribourt.

In the division on the compensation-fordisturbance-in-Ireland bill, thirty-seven homerulers voted with the government, and two hundred and six conservatives and twenty liberals with the minority. No conservative voted with the government. Forty liberal peers are said to have promised to vote for the bill. The Times says: "The normal majority in the house of commons of the liberals and home rulers combined is at least one hundred and seventy, and the diminution of the ministerial strength shown by last night's division is a measure, though an inadequate one, of the discontent the bill provoked. The bill has fallen into disrepute through its inherent vices of structure and character. It would be well for the government to abstain from raising a question of this kind until the royal comm saion has reported on the subject. In the meantime, the vague intimations of coming changes engender more alarm and alienate more support than all the efforts of conservative oratory."

The continental newspapers seem to make no question that Queen Victoria has written to the sultan, but, judging from an analysis of the letter published by the Paris Rappel, it appears highly improbable that it was either written or anthorized by the queen.

We often wondered what induced Dr. Bull to invent his celebrated Baby Syrup, but we man, of the English medical service in India.

His experience is drawn from personal contact with famine in that country and post mortems upon the starved Hindoos who died so numerously in the relief camps about Madras. Dr. Cunningham studied the effects of starvation upon both plants and animals, as well as human beings, and traces complete similarity in all three cases. The process was found to be accompanied by fatty degeneration of the tissues. This degeneration in the case of animals and men, is most noticeable in the cells lining the digestive canal. In the sufficiently starved men these cells, upon which depend the assimilation of nutriment, are completely swept away, and thereafter the taking of food is but a source of irritation instead of life-giving nourishment. Frequently the starving people who sought succorr in the relief camps of India found it only in a quicker deliverance from life. With no actual disease apparent, they speedily succumbed to the famine diarrhea with any augmentation of diet, no matter how cautiously the change was made. The reluctance of these wreiches to break up home associations and methods of life to seek help at the relief camps, till subsolutely driven by the pangs of the last stage of starvation, was the occasion of many deaths."

He gave his name as Shaw, and was sent to the county poorhouse."

Messis. Lawrence & Martin, 111 Madison street,
Chicago, Ill.—Gentlemen: I have received "a certified formula," giving the ingredients and relative which you advertise and sell under the name of "TOLU, ROCK AND RYE." This compound, according to your formula, in the opinion of this office, would have a sufficient quantity of the Balsak Of TOLU to give it all the sydantages sacribed to this article in pectoral complaints, while the Whisky and Syrup constitute an emulsion rendering an compound an agreeabe remedy to the patient.

In the optinion of this office, an article compound as a smedicinal preparation under the provisions of Schedule A, following section 3437, United States Revised Statutes, and when so slamped may be sold by Drugrists, Apothecaries and other persons, without rendering them liable to pay a special tax as iliquor dealers. Yours respectfully,
